Examples of projects

Logivolt Territoires

Logivolt Territoires, a 100% subsidiary of the CDC, finances charging station infrastructures for electric vehicles within private collective housing and in particular co-ownerships.

Since its launch on January 11, 2022, it has helped accelerate the installation of Collective Infrastructure (CI) necessary for the deployment of charging stations for electric vehicles. It has also contributed to supporting the social collective housing sector in initiating discussions and anticipating the needs of this sector.

Through the deployment of CI, Logivolt contributes to more sustainable electric mobility for all French households, including the most disadvantaged. This makes it possible to massively reduce emissions linked to exhaust gases as well as noise pollution from road transport.

Environnemental, social and territorial impact :

- 181 101 charging stations throughout the country
- 3 079 kt CO2 avoided thanks to the project (switching from thermal to electric vehicles)

(CO2 gains estimated over the life time of the project, based on RTE data, giving an average carbon impact 2.5 times lower for an EV compared to its equivalent thermal véhicule over the life cycle)
